MASTER THE FUTURE OF LEARNING: YOUR GUIDE TO THE MA IN INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY

The MA in Instructional Design and Technology (MAIDT) at Palestine Polytechnic University is a 36-credit hour graduate program developed in partnership with the University of Oslo. It equips students with the skills to design and develop modern educational content using technology and AI for careers in both the education and business sectors.
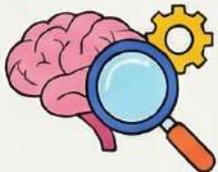

PROGRAM AT A GLANCE

2-Year, 36-Credit Program
Flexible structure allowing for part-time study over three years.

International Partnership with University of Oslo
Gain global experience with some courses taught by international specialists.

Focus on Applied Research
Choose a traditional thesis or a project solving real-world problems with local companies.

WHO IS THIS PROGRAM FOR?

Recent Graduates
From fields like Education, IT, Computer Science, Business, and English.
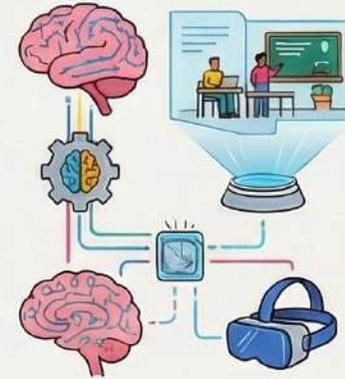

Educators & Teachers
School and university teachers seeking to integrate technology into their practice.

Industry Professionals
In corporate training, content development, multimedia, and IT companies.

YOUR FUTURE: SKILLS & CAREERS

Master Modern Educational Technology
Learn to design online courses, leverage AI, and develop AR/VR training content.

Develop In-Demand Professional Competencies
Gain skills in design thinking, project management, leadership, and research.

Education
Corporate & Tech
Media & Government

- Instructional Designer
- E-Learning Developer
- Technology Trainer
- Training & Development Manager
- Content Developer
- UX Designer
- Media Producer
- Educational Consultant
- Research Center Staff

NotebookLM